

Bus Driver (starter)

Transfer to join GVB as a bus driver

Are you ready for a new challenge? Do you like the vibrant atmosphere and the diversity of Amsterdam and would you like to take on the challenge to help passengers go places pleasantly, safely and on time? But do you not have a Category D driving licence or experience as a bus driver? No problem! We have a good offer for you!

- We offer a complimentary training program to obtain a Category D driving license and become a qualified bus driver.
- Enjoy competitive starting salaries along with generous benefits and allowances.
- Work flexible, pre-scheduled shifts with a maximum length of 8 hours and 45 minutes.
- Discover Amsterdam's unique buzz.

Diverse and full of energy

Imagine: in your rear-view mirror, you spot some former school friends who haven't seen each other for years. You say 'good luck' to a student on the bus cramming for an exam. You might even sing along in the evening with people coming back from a concert at Ziggo Dome. Every day and every trip is different. THIS is Amsterdam. Better than that: THIS is your new job. You are a GVB bus driver now! As a bus driver, you will meet all kinds of people all day, every day. Tourists, commuters, students, people enjoying a day out from various backgrounds and different age groups hop on the bus. Everyone making their way to their own destination. You will help them get there in a friendly and welcoming professional way, and with your own personal touch.

A bus driver is never alone

Though you may be the only GVB employee on the bus, you're always supported by the larger GVB team. One of our bus drivers even calls it the "GVB Village". A place where people know each other's name. Think: traffic control, team management, planners and of course colleagues on the vehicles. You meet your colleagues on the road and during breaks at GVB destinations. We're proud of GVB's community spirit. Working together is the only way to build towards an accessible Amsterdam.
